Workplace Readiness Toolkit

Practicing Employment Skills at Home

Developed by the Center on Transition Innovations at Virginia Commonwealth University

Schools and families have important roles to play in developing students' academic and functional performance in preparation for life after high school. When teachers and families work together, they can create opportunities for consistency in routine, expectations, and skill enhancement across all content areas. To effectively promote the continuation of skill development, it is essential for schools to partner with families to provide support and develop opportunities for skill improvement in the home.

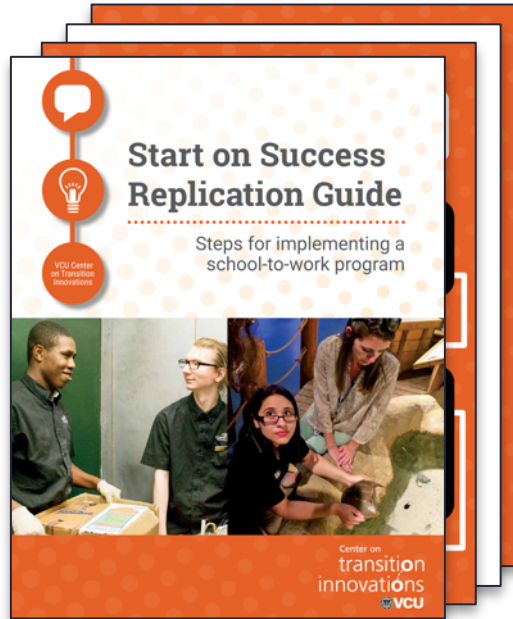

The home environment provides a wide variety of opportunities for students to practice skills and work on IEP goals with and without the use of technology. This Workplace Readiness Toolkit was developed as a resource to assist teachers and support families of students with disabilities as they prepare students for a successful transition to employment.

A Facilitator's Guide to Supporting Youth with Disabilities through the Career Planning Process

Developed by the Center on Transition Innovations

National Technical Assistance Center on Transition: The Collaborative [NTACT:C]

The banner features the NTACT logo and navigation links (About Us, Training & TA, Topics, Search, Join Us, Contact Us, Login). The main text reads: "National Technical Assistance Center on Transition: The Collaborative (NTACT:C) Supporting you to improve opportunities and outcomes for students and youth with disabilities." Below this is a "More About Us" button. On the right, there are three call-to-action buttons: "News Blast Signup", "Want Us to Help Your Team?", and "Have Questions? Contact Us." A photo of a young man working at a computer is also present.

This screenshot shows the "Training" page. It includes a breadcrumb trail "Resource Type > Training", a "Sort Posts by" dropdown set to "Most Recently Published", and a "Change View" dropdown set to "Default". The total number of posts is 96. The featured content is the "Engaging with Families Training Module", which includes a graphic with icons for a person, a gear, a document, and a checklist. The text describes the importance of family support during the transition process.

This screenshot shows the "Family Engagement" page. It features a breadcrumb trail "Topics > Family Engagement" and a "What's New" section with two featured items: "Engaging with Families Training Module" and "Parent and Family Involvement Annotated Bibliography". Below this is a "Key Resources" section featuring "Collaborative Family Engagement Strategies (PDF)". The page also includes a paragraph explaining the importance of family engagement and a photo of three people in a meeting.
